
SUMMER INTERNSHIP AVAILABLE

Looking for an individual interested in working on a farm in the Manhattan area. The focus will be on ecosystem health using regenerative agricultural practices to restore soil health. Creating outstanding wildlife habitat will be the priority.

Duties will include, but not be limited to:

Converting smooth brome monocultures into native grasslands.

Maintaining pollinator plots.

Operating pivots and moving wheellines.

Moving cattle that are being used in a high intensity, short duration grazing program.

Monitoring soil and plant health in habitat plantings, pivot and wheel line.

Planting and caging trees.

Weed spraying.

Helping with a regenerative agriculture workshop being hosted mid June.

Moving electric fences.

Maintain irrigation ditches.

Pay: $22.00 per hour

Expected average hours per week: 40

For questions contact Mike Ellig 406-579-5108 or Blackgoldsights@gmail.com